We have room to grow and are continuously improving but I'd say we are "consistent" with the model

Right now this is a bit of a moving target, but we are governing by our policies, not by direct control or order from the board. In other words, the board is not making operational decisions, but we do need to get better at discussing big picture issues without putting undo burden on the Co-op management.

We don't necessarily follow this - Melinda

As written, I have to say we were out of compliance with this subpolicy, but we are in compliance with the subpolicy that replaced this one in the new C1 we adopted in October

We are not perfect about this, but we have done as well as can reasonably be expected over zoom.

C1.5. Act in accordance with the Moscow Food Co-op bylaws.
