We could be more efficient in our meetings in order to leave more time for strategic leadership rather than getting hung up on formatting and wording.

The last 18 months have been extremely strange, so perhaps it is okay that we haven't done a top-notch job with this one. Perhaps it's enough that we have just been holding things together. But the truth is, we haven't provided much forward-looking strategic leadership this year, and we have not held the GM accountable for the success of the co-op.

On this scale, I'd say we're closer to needing improvement than consistently meeting approval with this global policy, aside from "empowering and holding accountable the GM" which we do well

I think we need to work better together for the good of the Co-op.
